F3A World Cup Event

03.08.2013 to 04.08.2013; Salzburg-Eugendorf Modellflugzentrum Kraiwiesen (Austria)

Overview

The 48. Internationales IGO ETRICH Wanderpokalfliegen 2013 in Salzburg Eugendorf-Kraiwiesen was organised by Modellflugclub Salzburg under the auspices of the Austrian Aero Club. The championship was conducted on the MFC-Salzburg site near Eugendorf, and had 43 participants representing 9 nations.

The weather conditions were sunny and hot on Saturday and Sunday. On both days the conditions for flying were good. On Saturday evening pilots and judges had some problems with the sun coming into the manoeuvring area.

Two rounds of P-13 were flown on Saturday from 8:00 to 20:30 On Sunday all pilots were allowed to fly a third round of schedule P-13. The best 9 pilots of the P-schedule flew one final round of F13.

Pre-contest information

One bulletin was issued by the organisers via Internet, covering all aspects of the competition, lodging, travelling, costs, procedures, etc. This was supported by a very functional website.

Lodging

Competitors, supporters, helpers, and officials were accommodated in several hotels within a short driving distance from the competition site. All the hotels were excellent and other options were available to competitors as well.

Competition site

The site of the MFC-Salzburg flying club was reasonable for the competition, with a concrete long runway and soft grass surrounds. The manoeuvring area was clearly marked.

Spectators had easy access to the competition.

Organisation and execution

The competition was conducted smoothly, with one panel of five judges. The contest director, Mr Heinz Kronlachner, was a distinct asset to the event, with a firm, professional, yet fair and humane approach, always mindful of the requirements of the Sporting Code. His competition staff members were keen, willing, and knowledgeable, and accepted help and direction from the jury members readily. Competitors were called in good time to execute their flights, by the contest director.

All score tabulation was done without problems, and scores were available during the flights because of the electronic input system used in Salzburg-Kraiwiesen since 1984. The scoring software designed by Oswald Hajek worked well, and there were no queries. TBL was used.

The flying standard was high, and a wide variety of equipment was used. Electrically-powered model aircraft accounted 100% of the entry.

Conduct of judges and jury

The jury members were in constant touch with the contest officials and there were no infringements of the Sporting Code. The judges performed their duties well.
